Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Friday, February 4, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Life is like that: a ceaseless struggle with good and bad moments. Union with the Divine must remain for each one the guideline for one's destiny. Understanding it is a sign of evolution allowing action in that direction. The soul is in need. It appeals to the being in all its manifestations, wherever they take place, in the various forms that animate it.

"Life is one and manifold; our aspirants become aware of it as they progress. What they must address while on the Earth cannot be circumvented; nobody can shy away from that obligatory stage. The heart must be refined and our way can do it; our faithful abhyasis are following a path, the importance of which they are not aware.

"The main thing for them is to take part in that redeeming movement, which in hindsight we can assess the results with happiness. Let us continue on our way with all those who have understood it and who feel concerned. They are thus using an effective method – under the aegis of a Master vested by divine grace with powers necessary for this work – in order to progress towards the goal, towards what is essential."
