Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

You must overcome your fears, including those of not being able to go further in the enriching contacts related to other levels of existence. Let time do its work; it will be able to overcome your reluctance. Your love for us will be the determining factor. Confidence is an important asset; going towards the unknown in an area like this one can generate such reactions. What you have already accomplished is not within the reach of everyone and yet you do it naturally, without it being a problem for you.

"Another door remains to be opened towards a kingdom where the great book of life reveals a portion of its secrets. Do not think of the reactions these writings could cause; man deserves what he is capable of understanding. The others reject and denigrate whatever disturbs them, because they don't have enough open-mindedness. Such has always been the case in this world where the best and the worst can happen; diversity is one of the characteristics of humankind where very different personalities confront each other, thus resolving very personal conflicts.

"How can one make this world progress without subjecting it to a new way of conceiving life here below and its continuation in other spaces where it appears differently?

"Death is perceived by man as an end, whereas it is actually the beginning of a new stage in his progress. His journey on Earth allows him to go through many experiences; various ordeals reveal him to himself and are more enriching or less, according to his way of living.

"A spiritual way helps to put things into perspective, to consider life differently and to understand the divine laws governing it. Our brothers are opening up to that understanding. That is the purpose of our work: to let them progress in the discovery of a higher reality."
