Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Sunday, February 13, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Like a beneficial stream seeping through the ground before emerging on the surface, the specific energy of our way wins hearts and prepares them for their future destiny. The spiritual work is carried out on a level of consciousness which man cannot detect; it is nonetheless active and constitutes the salient feature of a highly spiritualised movement wherein the incarnate Master plays a predominant role.

"To love one's Master, infinitely, is to truly take part in this great movement that expands the consciousness of humanity, whose level must change. The incarnate Master remains the figurehead of this great unsinkable ship, sailing an ocean that is by no means spared by the storms. The very person of that very Great Being is not spared either. He must cope with all the evils that characterise human nature and, moreover, manage his stature as the spiritual Master.

"One needs some strength for that and our son, chosen and loved, succeeds in that very well. His action within our Mission has borne its fruit, much more than he can imagine. How could one on Earth have a correct idea of it? His work goes well beyond appearances and prepares hearts thirsting for the Divine. Would water generous and pure manage to quench their thirst, thus justifying their arrival in this world in search of a spiritual way befitting them?

"It is not simple to find it; many mistakes often mislead the seeker. Each one obtains what one deserves when the quest is unselfish and pure. The appeals of a fervent heart do not remain ignored: they are given an appropriate answer. Within our way, they find their place. They progress joyfully, carried away by their own faith, pinned on the person to whom they entrust their destiny.

"All our brothers are equal in our eyes; all deserve the best, if they really want it."

Babuji

