Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Thursday, February 17, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Let yourself be transported towards the blessed shores, those where your soul can blossom and love infinitely. Its aspiration to rise is constant, thus creating a vibratory state conducive to this ritual; being thirsty it finds the source. Only the expectations of a craving soul can be met; it is in the nature of things.

"How many times in your spiritual process have you plunged into yourself like that? These reserved and invaluable moments are salutary in life. Uniting with the Divine maintains this privileged relationship with forces that nourish the subtle being, thus creating a balance conducive to evolution. For each one of our aspirants, work is being done whose ramifications he cannot assess. That work is not limited to this world; it helps to foster a harmonious balance between the various manifestations of the subtle bodies.

"It is not easy to make such statements. Many of our brothers are not yet in agreement with us on that; we must nevertheless forge ahead and make some breaches in this wall that limit an overall view to their own reality. The work carried out in our way is crucial for their evolution; everything is implemented for a complete success.

"May the time come for a revived humanity, spiritually fulfilled and largely aware of the extensions of life beyond their Earthly existence. This world is an element of the Great Whole, in the same way that each cell of the physical body is an integral part of it. It is all connected here below and beyond; life goes beyond the framework of the limitations which man puts on it.

"The divine life has neither beginning nor end; it is the supreme power governing the worlds and their many manifestations."
