Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Yes, you are here and faithful; we appreciate it. What more beautiful proof of love can one give than this fidelity to serve or follow us, so simply, in this way that leads a heart to the most beautiful spiritual success! Reason alone would not make it possible. Love is and will remain the essential element in this matter of the highest importance.

"To reach the greatest number of hearts will be the challenge of the coming era; the hardness of current times does not foster its expansion. All must change. A new wind must arise and blow in this world that is lost in the twists and turns of progress, as it is called, which misleads human beings regarding their fundamental aspects. Everything is going too far in this inhuman escalation; the purpose of an incarnation is not to become a sort of extremely powerful robot.

"A being's fundamental aspect must be able to be expressed in favourable terms and generally he fails to do that, hence the increasingly manifest disorders of his personality.

"Blessed are those who organise their life by taking into account this profound yearning; their efforts are praiseworthy. Many of our brothers find in their practice a means of protecting themselves from external turbulences and of answering this inner call, thus creating a harmonious balance within themselves. The heart has its reasons: a natural inclination to be united with the Divine.

Sooner or later it manages to do it; such are the laws in this area.

"Our way offers a means; many adhere to it. We are delighted and especially bless them."
