Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

When your journey on Earth has ended, other prospects will open up for you in terms of new stages in your evolution. Each one must be lived through in all consciousness and be accepted with gratitude, from this point of view. The way may seem long, but look back – didn't life teach you much through all these experiences that have moulded your personality? Each step in life is decisive and you have reached exactly the place where you had to be.

"Acceptance: that is what is appropriate when life takes a normal course in accordance with the divine laws. To follow a spiritual way is to consider life differently in general, and one's own existence in particular.

"Once one has reached that stage, all takes on a different meaning: situations are lived through differently and their enriching aspects then come to light and allow one to better circumvent situations when they are difficult. The human personality then manages to let itself be guided by the voice of wisdom, which can then be more easily heard.

"Indeed, nothing is simple in this world; only serious reference points can help in many circumstances. The divine life is not as far away from man as it can seem. This world is experimental and it intensely serves the divine life. All this is not easy to understand for the common run of people.

"Whatever each person's way of life, the lesson is profitable and must be considered as such; this is the beginning of wisdom."
