Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Thursday, February 24, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Nothing escapes us concerning life on Earth; hearts are like open books displaying their secrets to us. The human being is prey to contradictory feelings, before which he must make choices in many circumstances.

"Life in this world is not simple. Educational in its essence, it meets this criterion perfectly and drives the human being into a corner. One needs strength to face difficulties. Each day has its lot, ranging from the most insignificant to the more trying. Left to himself, he must face up to his responsibilities; that is how the possibility of growth is offered to him.

"Everything is important. So are the divine laws. Nothing escapes their notice. Miscarriages of justice are characteristic of men; here, nothing like this can occur. The complexity of an incarnation is an aspect of a vast plan escaping human logic. Limited in his view of things, man believes he knows. He makes statements; he swears and shouts sometimes, anchored to his convictions. The remainder of his way will include its own pitfalls – more numerous or less according to the case, but necessary for his evolution.

"It is not easy to understand. However, our brothers are ready to do so, and to admit to this principle to its fullest extent. Happy are those who open up to knowledge. They organise their life here below according to their convictions and practice, as far as our aspirants are concerned.

"In some countries, the notion of reincarnation and the effects of karma governing the life of human beings are still not well regarded and yet, whether they admit it or not, the divine laws are what they are and unavoidable; one should be aware of this.

"May everyone be enlightened, for one's good and one's elevation."
