Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Friday, February 25, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Let your soul be intoxicated with the Divine; there is no limit whatsoever to its being satiated. Its major yearning to commune so intensely is a necessity for this, its essential food.

"Live these moments completely, my child. They are redeeming and link you to your Master even a little more. Your whole being craves for these moments of grace bringing unity to it through translation with the Divine. The word is in its proper place; the concept of a correspondence between these various bodies is yet neither well understood nor integrated into our teachings.

"People's minds will also evolve in this aspect, when the reality of the being will become clearer to our aspirants. Some have understood it already; it remains for them to discover the true characteristics of their spiritual unity, which is more complex than it seems. Love must emerge in them; it is the powerful bond that fosters the exchanges between the various levels of consciousness. This vibration that is so special unifies the subtle bodies and fosters their push towards the ultimate source.

"To let one's inner being express itself is an increasingly growing necessity for the seeker; on no account should he curb it. His spiritual life goes through developmental stages, including periods of deceleration that allow an expression of unity in a harmonious way. The aspirant is in a hurry: life is not. It progresses at its pace and the divine laws determine its movement.

"He has to resign himself. Surrender, confidence and love triumph over all. Man's life is a training process; the unfolding of spiritual life is its apotheosis. The wise man fights on all fronts, thus he gets stronger. His life becomes meaningful and he knows that it will not end in this world, quite the contrary.

"May this outlook consolidate for our brothers their faith in life, that which cannot die."
