Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

To read these messages is to go beyond a simple reading and to benefit from a special vibration. A sensitive reader will feel it and he will seek to go through the exercise regularly, which will constitute for him an excellent introduction to his practice.

"The time has come for our aspirants, as very rightly emphasised by their Master, to open up to the transcendence of the Spirit. This definition can seem vague to them, but how can it be humanly defined since it is about highly spiritualised energy which, in some circumstances, benefits a seeker who is advised well and sufficiently refined to receive it?

"The more he advances on the path, the higher the rigour in pursuing his quest where no whim is allowed. Such is not compatible with the requirements of the divine laws, which are selective and uncompromising. We must insist on this point and once more specify the essence of this vibration, to which it is advisable to adjust in order to advance under the best conditions.

"Choices are to be made; a convinced aspirant relies on the spiritual Master. Only he can help the aspirant to get over a hurdle and to assist him when he reaches a turning point on his path. Long, arid and hard is the way – only determination will make the difference.

"When a soul is ready, it manages to overcome any obstacle. Being caught by the power of the divine fires and conquered, it rises on a higher level of consciousness where human knowledge is nothing compared to the transcendence of the Spirit in its dazzling revelation."
