Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Sunday, April 10, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Come and take refuge in us, within the Immutable Peace. Forget the burden of life and the trying aspects it inflicts on you. In this moment, only see what is beautiful, and relish the divine splendour by letting your soul have its fill.

"Will we find the right words, the formulas capable of carrying you into these magic places and making sure you do not stray from them in spirit? We are with you, in the same way as we are with all our brothers who are also struggling for many reasons. 'A vale of tears', as it was called in the past, this is what the Earth is for the human race: a decisive stage in its evolution.

"This aspect must be taken into account first and foremost; it conditions daily life by giving it a special meaning. All has its raison d'être. In misfortune or joy, the inner self is built. It finds in this world the necessary material for the construction of a higher life capable of changing its status.

"Climbing the various levels of consciousness step by step is a true ascent that requires patience and trust in this divine power that completely controls creation, from the smallest to the largest breath that animates it.

"What does a human being's life represent in this sublime game? Nothing negligible, since it is of higher essence in Spirit. Matter is a pretext, an incidence that serves the divine cause in the many facets that allow it to be manifested.

"The complexity of life is due to this power that is indefinable by man, so small compared to its greatness and yet so close to it, because he emanates from it."
