Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Friday, April 22, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Your best self has the recourse of faith; the same happiness overwhelms you every time this communion is established with the Immutable. This ritual carries you to the shores of oblivion where you forget the material world, thus filling your soul that is thirsting for the Divine in these blessed moments.

"You have this privilege; many do not have it. They are vainly seeking outside for what they have within them. They expect everything of others and neglect what is essential, not being aware of their true nature. This is the human tragedy: many people think that everything starts and ends in this world, as they have no idea of what they really are.

"Men pursue pleasure at all costs, for what it is: inconsistent, deceptive, and sometimes harmful. May they one day discover the true meaning of life and work towards their evolution. Our abhyasis, our brothers and sisters, have passed this stage; they are opening up to knowledge, discovering their inner aspects that are immeasurable.

"This dimension remains to be explored; we give them the necessary means by providing spiritual assistance, without which awareness would not be effective. Man must grow in extending this consciousness that connects him to the divine forces.

"This is truly the start of a process that will lead him to an outcome conducive to the blooming of the soul, with the aim of total union and fusion with the Ultimate Splendour. This process will be long but its final goal will inescapably bring the being back to the source of all life, where it aspires to be merged and to taste the joys of Immutable Peace.

"May all our aspirants be blessed and progress in this luminous discovery of the Spirit."
