Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Saturday, May 7, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

This very beautiful publication represents today a decisive and courageous act on the part of my son; let him be thanked for it.

"This whole collection of messages, given in their original chronological order for a specific purpose, will constitute the future Testament of our way. Our way must assert itself in terms of open-mindedness on a higher reality. The forerunners in this area always contributed in this world towards its progress. The majority of our aspirants understand it; they trust their Master in his judgement and this attitude can only benefit them.

"To progress is to also overcome generally accepted ideas when they confine man to a constraining stagnation.

"The era of the reign of the Spirit, as men will have to picture it, will depart from the clichés that have been maintained out of ignorance and have focused on nice images having nothing to do with reality. The perception of the Divine must take place in a more concrete manner by a very focused approach, fostered by a spiritual work that accomplishes and supports an elevation of the vibratory level, adjusted to the patterns of the future mutation.

"Humanity must change and this will entail upheavals – we have repeated this enough; it is inevitable. To forge ahead, to persevere in one's practice, offers enlightening prospects for our brothers and sisters who have understood that this is the way they should follow. Having a spiritual Master, in whom they can place their trust and faith in their aspiration to progress, is a support whose importance they do not accurately assess.

"May the reading of these messages, which many have started perusing, help them and reinforce their determination to continue, becoming more and more aware of the precariousness of life on Earth.

"May our blessings support them and strengthen them."

Babuji