A Fifth Revelation

You can be happy, my daughter, while admiring this beautiful book, the first of this kind published in our way. For my beloved son, it represents an act of faith and love, which moves my heart.

"Far too many of our brothers, in France in particular, were not informed or informed too late about this publication and they deplore it; it is nonetheless a very courageous stance on the part of their Master. Information within our Mission, taking into account its development, must be more actively provided.

"Communicating by computer is far from being within the reach of all. A meticulous follow-up in this area should take place for the whole of our aspirants; this is to be considered by those responsible for various regions.

"Your Master, my child, this son is showered with praises by our hierarchy and is precious to our hearts. His love is returned a hundredfold to him; a celestial chorus accompanies our remarks, thanking him for all his efforts made in service of the Divine.

"Our teaching is making its way in hearts; it produces promising fruit therein for the present and the future. Everyone's fervour and practice have repercussions on other hearts; thus is the divine principle, which chooses the appropriate channels.

"Light does not remain ignored; it is diffused advisedly, with the necessary impetus.

"All in our way are working as well as possible; there are many volunteers for this. More and more volunteers will be necessary; it is in the nature of things. The divine energy must find the appropriate channels for its action, with our ceaseless blessings."
