Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Monday, May 16, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Feed on love, my child. Your old dream of no longer having to feed your body does not belong to the characteristics of your karma. These cases, as we already told you, are rare. Therefore, on this aspect, you will not be spared from being dependent on others, which you have understood for a long time.

"Your destiny is being achieved in another context; receiving these messages is part of it and you should consider yourself privileged to hold this role as a scribe, which you have a liking for. It binds you more intensely to us; thus your faith in our system is more easily expressed, as well as your maximum love.

"You are receiving satisfactory feedback on this book published by your Master. Rough and quick translations are made, particularly when our abhyasis meet. This was inevitable. The impact of these messages touches hearts and creates favourable reactions in them. Following up on this aspect, my son will be able to make the necessary decisions.

"The most important step has been taken, and this open door testifies to the awareness of our aspirants. Let us consider only the positive aspect; the rest will take place as planned.

"The times change and minds open up imperceptibly. Many human beings vaguely foresee that a salutary mutation is dawning. Others are resistant to any idea of opening up to the world of the Spirit; we cannot do anything about this in the immediate future.

"There cannot be unanimity on this Earth. Human beings are like that, as each one follows his evolutionary cycle with the traits corresponding to this cycle. Diversity is a characteristic of this world and each one follows his necessary path; thus is the order of things."
