A Fifth Revelation

The other messages you are taking down will also have a choice place in our way. The entity of this higher being is expressing itself in a spirit suitable for preparing the new era and meeting the expectations of our aspirants.

"At the cusp of these two worlds, it is appropriate, in secrecy, to prepare it on all levels. As a whole, our brothers and sisters are open, as shown by their practising within our Mission. They are advancing and doing their best to adapt and progress. We cannot rush them, and yet, stagnation in this area is not desirable.

"The publication of these messages is an open door on this 'world of the Spirit', with which we would love to put them in tune. Let's carry on step by step; [having] our son, the spiritual Master of all these beings who are on their way and who trust us, is a major progression at the dawn of new times that are starting to rise on the horizon of this suffering world.

"In a spiritual way, adapting to circumstances is necessary. Otherwise, how could one advance and grow, surpassing matter and integrating into a refined vibratory space, freed from the prevailing miasmas. Looking behind delays the process, except if it measures the progress made and further motivates growth, liberating it from the evils of this world.

"May all our abhyasis advance with a willing heart and with absolute confidence in the system and the Chosen Master who carries all their hopes."
