Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Friday, July 15, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

My child, your Master can understand that life and its many ordeals have made you vulnerable. It's only human that you hesitate to relinquish these writings; they have influenced your days for many years, and they alone constitute your most invaluable asset, which others may not be able to understand.

"Everything is in order now: as soon as possible, our faithful implementers will attend to this matter, and these [handwritten] manuscripts will go to our son and to India – their spiritual homeland. Just a little time and all will be finalised for the good of the Mission.

"Your Master is doing everything possible for the Mission. His vigilance is exemplary; he is the commander of this 'special' boat that will influence the coming century in the vast area of spiritual progress. All those who are ready will embark in his wake. Hearts thirsting for the Divine will find their bearings there, beyond their social and ethnic differences. You did a good job, are you aware of it? You minimise your role in this matter, which is good.

"May all our brothers within our Mission, whatever their role, behave in this manner. To be chosen is a privilege in itself; adding no egotistic reactions to it is a sign of wisdom.

"Let us continue for some little time, my child, if your health permits. Your heart is always willing to serve us, and also to love us. Blessings to those who surround and support you."
