Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, August 27, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Inspiring music, the works of great musicians of the past, delight your soul, my child, with what they arouse in it. Being receptive to beauty, your soul enthuses in following such music in the mazes of faith. When the soul is given the opportunity to express itself, it needs a food that can fulfil its insatiable hunger. Beauty in all its forms moves it, when such arouses great fervour in it. The ways of God open up to a person who loves the infinite and fertile fields where faith can be cultivated. There is nothing mawkish in these impulses of love; they cannot be controlled, as they emanate from a deep inspiration supported by grace.

"All that touches the soul falls under this state. It strengthens the aspirant in his unremitting quest towards the ultimate fusion with the Absolute. Never repress these impulses of love; they increase and deepen faith, in the noblest and greatest aspects that exist. The appeal to the Divine manifests itself in all its forms, sometimes unforeseen. They are always effective, and no matter what happens, they bring one back to what is essential. This celestial manna coiled in the core of the being manifests itself at the slightest sign made in its direction.

"The beauty emanating from the Divine opens wide the secret doors of the soul. Reserve this very special food for it, my child. It cannot weary of it, quite the contrary, and the source for it will not dry up.

"Love, infinitely, and be filled with the delights granted to loving hearts."
