Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Protect yourself from negative vibrations; they are a hindrance to these meetings. Cultivate serenity as much as possible; it is your key to a subtle world where, according to the needs, the means of access to the various levels of consciousness are organised. As you can see, our contacts are more refined. They take place on other wavelengths that allow a more sophisticated approach. The reader may not be aware of these nuances, but your inner self is. It takes time for the mechanism, in such a situation, to become as powerful as it is now.

"Long practice has allowed for that which is now happening [between you and] the higher entity of your Master; it is not common and will remain a characteristic of our Mission, when the time has come to disclose [information on] this. The ways of God are unfathomable and they hold possibilities in store which will leave man astounded about this issue. Such will make them realise how much humans have yet to discover about the realities of their Earthly existence, although they currently believe that they have reached the height of a knowledge civilisation.

"There is a time for everything; people's minds are opening up very slowly, but in an irreversible way. The era of knowledge will make men humbler, insofar as they are small and ignorant about anything related to the divine power. Compared to it, what are they? So small, indeed! When man has become aware of this, humanity will have taken a very big stride forward."
