Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, September 10, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Let yourself be carried away by this redeeming tide; doesn't it bring you towards us each time, without diverting your heart from its preferred target! This target is and will remain, until the end – that is, when you have left this world and will pursue, elsewhere, this passionate quest for the Divine. This quest generates a joy in you, an essential stability, in this world troubled by the manifestation of evil.

"Acting in the interest of goodness and beauty leads to serenity – which is decisive in a spiritual process. All efforts must go in this direction: to do what one ought to and, in addition, to free oneself from the obstacles hindering one's progress. As you can see, we keep repeating ourselves. Do you find these repetitions wearying? No, you realise instead how very necessary they are in one's daily life where it is so easy to lose one's way.

"This daily message is a food, an element triggering in you good reflexes that warn when necessary. Human beings, whatever their finer feelings, can in some circumstances let themselves be diverted to where they did not want to go. In the context of the complexity that characterises them, they must manage their human condition and all its related disconcerting aspects – even for those seekers who are well informed.

"All have gone through these struggles: the great beings of the past and present pursue, and will continue to pursue for a long time, the same battles. Wisdom cannot be acquired easily: many examples are provided in support of this truth. The efforts made in this direction are not in vain; relentlessly keeping a close check on oneself is the best means of progressing. Blessed are those who, in spite of everything, are striving towards divine bliss."
