Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Let the best bloom within you, and cultivate it with greatest fervour. This aspect of your life must hold your sharpest attention, above all. Keep offering and loving; thus is your way, in the silence of the heart. Far from men's eyes, from their hasty judgement, a wonder is being prepared in you that will not perish. All our brothers and sisters have to work accordingly; they are given a large space where their action can take place. Interiorising oneself more and more, paying attention to the heart's movements by calming down an intellect that is a disturbance in this matter – this is the challenge.

"To insist every day on what is essential – as we do in these messages – is the key to success. Repetitions are necessary for man as far as all acts of life are concerned. They shape him by providing solid bases and, whether admitted or not, a necessary balance. Monotony does not result from this need but from a lack of imagination, and especially of enthusiasm, for all tremendously enlightening aspects offered by life. All is an opportunity for grace and growth, provided one's existence is made to be meaningful in this world.

"Following a spiritual way entails understanding its purpose, exploring other fields and the opportunities offered by them. It also entails being united with the Master, with the divine forces, while working towards an expansion of the soul, towards its higher destiny and there – as perseverance provides – the wonder will be achieved."
