Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Tuesday, November 15, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Your heart knows the pathway; every day it humbly takes it to come towards ours. This ritual is performed in a climate of love, which we would like our readers to benefit from. Thus this story has continued over the years; it seems edifying to us in terms of the duration and the fervour it generates. The harshness of the world where our brothers and sisters live calls for an interlude of peace and love to be inserted in their practice, as expressed through these lines.

"From time immemorial this need has been essential; it is becoming obvious more than ever. To make men become aware of this is today's challenge as humanity is sinking every day, more and more, being blinded by wrong needs. Everything is taking place in an excessive way and is no longer in line with human reality, whose principle is simple. Going back to more wisdom is our hope for this world. May it succeed by itself before it is too late! How can one make all these beings see reason when they are driven by hatred and the associated need for revenge? May the voice of reason be heard one day, echoing the urgency of a change in the hearts that are heading for an era of peace and love for their salvation. How can God be referred to out of this context? Our remarks always evolve around the same topics, but how can we do otherwise when within our Mission divergences of opinion are common and generate useless tensions, harmful to the vibratory field of our way. Human tendencies are expressed; it is unavoidable. So let us work towards everyone's elevation for the good of all with a view to a general change, under our unceasing blessings."
