Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Thursday, December 8, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Does this heart-to-heart manage to soothe you, my child? By interiorising yourself in that way, you make this contact easier. You know the principle as you have put it into practice so many times, creating in yourself this state of vacuity and your gifts allowing you to receive us. This is indeed a beautiful exchange, which will make our brothers inherit a reading that meets the aspirations of some of them. Our goal is to help them in all possible ways; all are advancing on the path and they are grappling with difficulties that are bound to happen, inevitably. Having recourse to the practice, with all that it consists of, is a precious help in all circumstances. To be able to open this secret door at will and take refuge in this holy place, when the need is felt, soothes the soul and reinforces it in its aspiration for the Divine.

"It is good to see all our aspirants advancing at their own pace, but progressing nevertheless, while winning beautiful victories over themselves. All on Earth have had to go through the same struggles; no one is spared, as it is in the nature of things. Being incarnate is to enter a vibratory system where change is continuous and keeps leading to sometimes trying situations. Being incarnate is to struggle, accept, act and evolve, if possible, by becoming aware of the needs this life imposes on all, without exception. An opportunity for success is offered to everyone; we refer, herein, not to that success which conforms to the views and quotas of society, but to one of self-fulfilment in a spiritual quest uplifting the soul in its long process."
