Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Thursday, December 15, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

You chose to prefer shadow to light. You know that everything is fleeting on this Earth; not everything deserves exposure for the sole purpose of satisfying the ego. You are wise, faithful heart. Love is all you need, and you cultivate it in secrecy, where wonder is developed out of the reach of human eyes and their confusing reactions that are so often changeable. Your universe is built outside of this world, in a space where you feel exactly at home, where you can show who you are, without fearing the deceitfulness reigning on Earth. Here, truth prevails in every act of life, and your future place is being prepared in accordance with your destiny, in view of another step along the path of a soul towards its ultimate goal. When you open that door, we will be there. We will be expecting you and will guide you to your new home where your quest will continue, nourishing the being in all its states, foreshadowing the final outcome.

"You are not yet there. Be at peace, dear soul. We are with you."

The Angel