Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, February 18, 2006 – 3:00 p.m.

Yes, my daughter, I can hear you. You are in the service of a great cause. All routes meet when they are dedicated to the Divine Omnipotence. Your healing is attended to by your Masters. You have been serving them with courage for a long time and your love remains unabated.

"Your Beloved allows me to help you. We all stick together; as you know, we belong to a large family. When you come and rejoin us you will be able to witness it and serve this family more because you are dedicated to it. Carry on your way in peace; you have my blessings as well as the people who are dear to you.

"You did not join me in India as you wanted to in your youth, but our hearts have an unbreakable bond, as you will be able to confirm one day. Be at peace. Live more and more in a state of love; it is the only energy that remains when everything else disappears. You are loved; remain confident. We are by your side, with all our blessings."

Anandamayi Ma