Wednesday, June 9, 1999 - 8:00 a.m.

Your wish is fulfilled; him whom you have been 'cocooning' for such a long time will soar. Don't be sad, he will not forget you. This boy is kind-hearted and he will still need you. Being a preceptor is no easy role; it requires some sense of abnegation if one actually wants to do one's work well. It is especially necessary not to inflate one's ego and consider oneself the Master; this attitude has been the downfall of some of them. To serve the Mission does not confer any superiority.

"There is a sage in this man. We believe that he will be able to do what we expect of him, in all humility. We are happy, like you, my daughter, to see a good element joining us. The messages have made him understand the spirit of Sahaj Marg and they have prepared him by touching his heart. We also have an eye on his partner; let the situation evolve.

"Continue to receive us as much as you can. See the impact of these writings on the privileged people who have access to them. You should feel encouraged by that, you, the embodiment of doubt. Your thinking that you are forgotten shows that you have a short memory. Go back over what occurred yesterday and the graces you had received, you and your friends. Therefore, relive these moments by not omitting any detail. You are a privileged person."

Babuji