Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Monday, March 6, 2006 – 10:00 a.m.

Collect yourself, my child, and receive in your heart, like beneficial dew, the expression of our love. Being chosen entails submitting to its ceaseless action and being carried away, without resistance, towards the place of delights where the soul can exult. Once one is liberated from the deceptive effects of this world, in which humans let themselves be caught, truth unfolds and grace abounds. Is it not true that all is vain in this world? Only true wisdom allows one to make choices and to avoid wasting time on trivialities. As curious as man is about adventure and all kinds of pleasures, he moves away from what is essential, to satisfy the whimsical needs of his curiosity. Thus he wastes a lot of time from one incarnation to the other. Only the hardness of the way calls him to order and may lead him to grasp the true meaning of life.

"Happy are those who, after many battles, manage to understand where they must go. Travelling on Earth does not lead anywhere, except for momentary satisfactions, at the most, when they bring a little wisdom; but the main thing lies elsewhere. Life, wherever it may occur, is a struggle worthy of efforts, when, in all conscience, it is offered to the supreme power. The inner journey is the most gratifying, but how many people experience it in current times when man, more than ever, is caught up by the deceptive attraction of his senses and misled by their play. Happy are those who know and devote reasonable time to gathering within themselves the effects of grace. By interiorising themselves, they facilitate this movement of beneficial expansion where the soul can transcend matter and unite with Divinity.

"This new phase of your life, my child, is not any less important; be totally devoted to the power of the divine Spirit, of which you are, like all living things on this Earth, the most subtle manifestation."

Babuji

