Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Wednesday, April 19, 2006 – 10:00 a.m.

Your two hearts united in the same song fill mine with joy – infinitely. It took such a long time to arrive at this, the highest level of this eternal search where two souls eventually reach the state of unison. It was no easy task to bring them together. As both of them are determined and strong, the divine intentions escaped them, until the day these became evident. The highest will always ends up prevailing when its plans so require. Is there not a saying that goes: 'human life is a breath, nothing and nothing more'. Therefore, how could it oppose this will, whose action surpasses by far the outcome of a human incarnation in such a limited world?

"Man, whatever his path, is guided and strictly follows the lines of a life plan often baffling in relation to his certitudes and projects. The highest powers have their own reasons, which escape human understanding. Thus are built the threads of destiny that make beings meet and act accordingly. You serve us in your respective ways and were brought together with a specific purpose for one of the aspects of this Mission. This is part and parcel of your history, which will continue beyond Earthly time in another context.

"Life is precarious on Earth. Doing what must be done in the best possible way soothes the soul and allows it to cope with the hardness of the path. Thus providence was taking care of your respective destinies that met under the aegis of the 'Greats' with a specific objective. As far as this history is concerned, the word 'end' is not written yet. Surrender and love guide your steps, leading you in the same direction; service has been for a long time included in this process.

"Blessed are all the souls who are privileged to read us, to benefit from a salutary energy generously dispensed at the dawn of a future and far-reaching mutation in the world of men."
