Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, April 22, 2006 – 10:00 a.m.

You miss, at the human level, the deep forests, the fragrant meadows and wide horizons where imagination can picture the most luxuriant landscapes.

"Find them in a different way – inside. Thus, so many delights are offered to your heart. Incomparably deep, they make you forget the frustration resulting from your lack of contact with nature. When you are absorbed inside, united with the heart of your Master, how meaningful then are fleeting and illusory images? Those created within you are not like that. They represent a stable asset, resulting from a long process escaping the laws of this world. Take this compensation as a blessing, my child; cultivate joy and serenity in this secret space, hidden from the eyes of men. Armed with your faith and a ceaseless special vibration of love fostering these contacts, you can reach spheres where few human beings could venture into, even if they were the greatest travellers on this Earth. You can believe me, their travel logs are not as rich as yours. All that seems obvious to you in your special journeying is not common. It is high time for you to become aware of this, but can one change you on this aspect?

"Thus is your way of life, resulting chiefly from a profound aspiration to serve. In the context of a particular incarnation, each human being is confronted with their weak points, which can be overcome with the help of their strong points, thus making a success of this incarnation. Each incarnation is an opportunity to reach a higher level. May our teaching contribute to this and make our aspirants surpass themselves through a process where all becomes possible, under the effects of grace.

A genuine spiritual way is a divine gift; ours belongs to this category. Continuance is the best warrant; it is up to our brothers and sisters to convince themselves of this and act accordingly, under our ceaseless blessings."
