Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Monday & Tuesday, August 28 & 29, 2006

The Medium: "O, my Beloved Babuji, and you my Master, your hearts, united, emanate a divine nectar, and my fervent heart comes and relishes it. It is thirsty for you, for your power of love — this sublime energy which the soul will never tire of."

My child, drink from the glass; become intoxicated. Is there anything better that can happen to you in this moment, on this long and difficult way conducive to the elevation of your soul? Blessed are you, as you have found the divine source. Only it can satisfy your soul and bring it towards its higher destiny.

"Immerse yourself in it, in us, in our united hearts where you are welcome; remain merged in them with your soul in rapture."

(Later)

"Why do you want to keep these lines to yourself? Hearts other than yours will take ownership of these comments, as they are sensitive to the vibration of the words assembled in these lines in an attempt to express the inexpressible.

"Your childlike heart protects you from egotistic reactions; you are acting out of love and not for the sake of any gratitude from your fellow creatures. Be blessed, my child."
