Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, December 2, 2006 – 4:00 p.m.

Being both 'One' and multidimensional, our divine guide appears before us in all His Splendour, embodying divine power. Our souls are dazzled by Him to an extent which we cannot express. He is our living force, our reason to hope for a better world here below and in a future that concerns us: one purified from the wickedness prevailing on Earth. Only what is beautiful should end up emerging, and especially uniting men in terms of their best aspects. It is not utopian to contemplate this; anything can happen, including the conquest of the spirit over baseness. Man can be perfected, beyond all imagination; to God, nothing is impossible. Our way is advancing in this context, channelling the living forces which humanity needs so much."

"Your understanding is right, my son; the future of humanity is nearing a point of no return, and yet, one day the situation will have to be reversed by divine grace, after having gone to the bitter end of disgrace. Then, the forces of goodwill have to triumph over the ugliness of the current world – whose insatiable hatred is devastating and will have to reach its peak before being expunged from the registers of life as it stands today. The progress of our way, in this direction, is already felt in the preparation for a highly spiritualised life. [It will happen] in a distant future, yet nonetheless [it is] in the offing. With the help of a heart close to ours, we manage to communicate like this; my son, this needs to be emphasised once again. Do not lose heart. Your mission is not exactly restful. We help you, in our own way, including with these very important writings.

"Remain confident in your mission on Earth, in life and in the future of humanity. One day, it will rise from its ashes, once it has earned a more glorious status."
