Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Thursday, December 7, 2006 – 4:00 p.m.

The Medium: "O Babuji, you are my strength, my commitment in this life. You opened up to me the doors of a genuine and beautiful world where my soul is nourished, and where it finally found its Master. His celestial heart conquered mine, by leading it onto the path of completion. He has made the extraordinary love inspired, by your two united hearts be the same in my heart."

By the grace of our Beloved guide, so many steps have been cleared. Our lives are reinforced by our love for Him; they are inextricably interlinked in this process where we can discover, while being incarnate, the subtleties of the world of the Spirit. It is not characterised, as human beings tend to believe, by some light intensity, but by a vibrational spectrum that is very wide and extremely diverse. The creative omnipotence knows no limit; it reacts to ceaseless fluctuations. Here, our horizon widens considerably as it is not confined to the levels of consciousness accessible from the material world. Our souls come to the shores of bliss to enjoy and be invigorated; eternity rises before them, striking them in the most subtle fibres of their being. So many secrets are thus disclosed to us, throughout these stages where our Beloved appears to us in his true stature within the ethereal spheres."

"My son, you keep amazing us by your multifarious capabilities. The world of the Spirit has become familiar to you; hence your open-mindedness that enables you to overcome human reactions about these contacts and the resulting messages. Our way is already part of this great ascending movement of humanity of the future. The future has in store great revelations for men on the existence of parallel worlds, which they cannot figure out today given the prevailing obscurantism, generally accepted ideas, and the hatreds that are fuelled among them for lack of tolerance – and lack of broadmindedness, as a matter of fact. May the glorious time of the elevation of souls come, letting them foresee in this world the divine power in all its magnificence.

"Be blessed among all, my dear son. Your aura keeps growing and embellishing itself, which delights the hearts of all those who love you."

Babuji
