Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Thursday, December 28, 2006 – 10:00 a.m.

Don't worry about the recurring repetition of some comments. This is necessary with humans, who unceasingly shift from one context to another, permanently enticed by a hectic life and, in addition, by a considerable mass of information polluting their senses and attention. These Bangalore gatherings, with the spirit emanating from them, are a pause for some of our aspirants. One can discern, throughout, one of the aspects resulting from your work regarding the messages. They are alluded to and, with time, their action will keep growing in the hearts."

Babuji

The Medium: "Babuji, throughout these years, you have embellished my days with an unfailing joy with these daily contacts, which are nearing a conclusion which you will decide as to when and how. My heart has been surrendered to you for a long time and you can use it as you wish, my Beloved."

"All that can help your Master is to be taken into consideration. These messages often do so. Therefore, my dear child, we will use your gifts as much as possible, since for you, serving is an act of faith which is far beyond any form of the gratitude by your fellow creatures."

Babuji

"These exchanges have a particular characteristic: they will leave a mark in our Mission and will serve as a reference, even more in the future when people will evolve toward a spiritual openness unprecedented in the history of the world. This kind of communication will be considered differently, with all the attention it deserves."

"My son, you are a true sage. You are not afraid to forge ahead. Thus are the great people who have a mission; they can go beyond the present and prepare the future, according to their current capacities. Be blessed among all."
