Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Sunday, January 14, 2007 – 4:00 p.m.

Let us rise up and forget our worries; they weigh on us heavier and heavier by the day. In the face of the divine splendour, that which we sense as we rise up, what do they represent? To be more precise, the surest way to contribute to the salvation of this world is through an increased commitment and awareness about this goal."

S.E.

The Medium: "My Master, I am impressed by your power of action; there is only a hint of it on Earth compared to its intensity elsewhere, where life is not transient – as it is here below – and to which your influence is extended."

"The power of action of my son in the material world is coupled with faculties no less active on other levels of consciousness. Wherever they can be located, he does operate with equal effectiveness; this is what characterises him.

"Each one has his own peculiarity; powers serve the same purpose, but a personal and significant touch make them differ from each other. The banquet of the Chosen Ones brings together elements that are different but united at the highest level in this rare energy, which presides over the feast of the greatest ones.

"He himself has been chosen under our protection, coupled with unfailing love. Thus is this son growing with our ceaseless blessings."
