Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Monday, March 5, 2007 – 10:00 a.m.

How could we weary of kindling so much love? This one is unparalleled among the most beautiful stories lived by human beings. It is completely different and pertains to another dimension; believe it, my daughter. It yields a special energy that is far from displeasing us. Fervent hearts devote themselves to it, urged by a profound longing of the soul to rise towards the summits. True mystics do not put barriers to themselves; they surrender completely to the transcendence of the Spirit. Thus are searching souls united in the wake of the chosen Master.

"A spiritual Master plays a predominant role; being incarnate, he can more easily achieve the true preparatory work required for the advancement of a being. Thus is the torch transmitted in our way, as per the wishes of higher authorities. This moment of history, on Earth, is unique; each epoch is given what is appropriate for the good of beings who have understood where the most important thing lies. May all humans advance one day towards the goal, and may our faithful aspirants fully benefit from the opportunity granted to them in this life! May all of them be blessed!"

"One day, all these messages will be known. They are given for this purpose and are not to remain archived. As indicated by our Divine Guide, each period brings about what is deemed good for humans, for their progress associated with the state of broadmindedness necessary for their evolution. The Spirit manifests itself where and when It wants; thus are the divine laws.

"Let us continue to work accordingly, as much as will be required. Our vision of life must adjust itself to these principles concerning the transformation of mankind – the importance of which we cannot currently grasp. That is how it is for all of us."
