Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Sunday, March 18, 2007 – 4:00 p.m.

The Medium: "I am so small beside a giant; a particle, a nothing compared to the Whole – you my Master, who are both incarnate and divinised. You have annexed my heart naturally, since it is surrendered and willing. Thus was our Divine Guide's wish. His views are not ours, let alone mine. Who am I to express any doubts, if at all they arose? Yet, I am fully confident, surrendered and conquered; such is the situation. Nothing better could have happened in this life!"

My dear sister, the time of assessments has come. These many years were productive for our Mission. It is making headway with its own characteristics that are being constantly revealed to our aspirants. Do they realise how lucky they are to have joined a way like ours – one that is challenged at the dawn of this century, as regards spirituality, namely for its broadmindedness in areas that are not yet recognised by all. Let us be thankful for this manna that is offered; our Mission benefits from it, by very special grace."

"Time gave all its lustre to this story, whose scope was unsuspected at the beginning. Kindled by divine love and having held the attention of Great Beings – some of whom manifested themselves – this collection of messages is a rare thing in its uniqueness. The ways of God are like that; they prepare people in their own way. Man, generally, does not grasp the full scope of it. How can the reality of God's ways be perceived when their scope is beyond the potential of human comprehension in these times of obscurantism?

"May these messages be perceived correctly and translated into various languages while respecting their true meaning."
