Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

August 2007 – 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: "My Master, you open up an infinite space to me wherein stands out the greatness of our Beloved Guide, the so much revered host of our hearts."

Let us be carried towards Him. There, we reach what is unimaginable in this world; our delighted souls can then taste the absolute bliss."

S.E.

"My son and you, my daughter, are examples of faith. Without your earnest sense of service, in your respective capacities, we would not have reached this stage. We have almost completed this long story of messages through which you have managed to show all your worth. Let it be according to the divine will."

Babuji

"Have we said our last word? Our hearts cannot resign themselves to that. After such a great number of contacts, how can one not be carried away, once more, on the wings of love, that which transcends everything since it emanates from the divine source?

"Our hearts vibrate in unison. Their long journey in the world of the spirit shaped them accordingly. Thus this story had to be written! It will go down in history by leaving its mark far beyond what we can imagine. It will live on after all sorts of upheavals, and leave a symbolic image of us, of the present time and of our way, in a prelude to its future continuation. Let us be carried away and do what must be done, under the aegis of the higher forces. Thus all will be well."
