Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Thursday, October 4, 2007 – 10:00 a.m.

Divine love is the most beautiful energy at man's disposal. Is he aware of it? He cannot truly be. His perceptions are not sufficiently refined. The subtlety of this unique power escapes him at the present stage of his evolution. The beginnings of very big upheavals have started to be felt, and they unsettle the human being's precarious balance. All can feel them, by and large, according to their frame of mind and their receptivity. Many changes are ongoing in the universe where nothing is static, more particularly during phases of sizeable mutations that largely escape the best-informed observers. Creation, no matter what seekers think, keeps its mysteries. They would be quite surprised to approach a reality that altogether escapes them at this time. Man has his own limits. Even the most gifted and the humblest ones recognise this, whereas others take pleasure in believing the opposite – to each their own truth. May all humans advance on the way to true knowledge, the only one worthwhile. May it please God."
