Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Thursday, October 25, 2007 – 10:00 a.m.

You may wish to temporarily stop relaying these recent messages. My son is sufficiently awash with a mass of old messages recently translated which he did not have before. This additional reading is not negligible for him; he can hear our voices through this extraordinary yet useful means.

"All our brothers and sisters should also benefit from them; this will happen soon, so will it be. These writings are meant to be known and recognised for what they are: an esoteric teaching already pertaining to the characteristics of our way, no matter what indomitable individuals may think. We have already said it quite often: in this pivotal period for humanity, minds must evolve and conform to the requirements of the present time, without lingering on the mental barriers of some people.

"The future is to be prepared now. May all our aspirants understand and admit this principle for their greatest good; we do insist on this point."
