Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Monday, October 29, 2007 – 10:00 a.m.

Your life is exactly as it should be – with these constant tests which have moulded you as per our expectations – appropriately fulfilling your mission. Suffering refined your gifts; that is how it had to be, and you accepted this. The contract is thus fulfilled and you have nothing to complain about, so it seems.

"A lifetime is short; what you will leave with these writings will defy time and your heart can rejoice about it. Looking back, their rereading makes you eventually realise the importance of this work.

"Our brothers and sisters, are they really ready today to appreciate it at its true worth? It does not really seem so for most of them. How could they? Man should regain more effective acuteness to assess what surrounds him, in particular through interiorisation – that can temporarily keep him away from the ill effects of a civilisation that is excessive in every respect. It is proper to do one's best under the circumstances; our aspirants have devoted themselves to it. May they all be strengthened and enlightened in their quest for the Absolute."
