Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Wednesday, October 31, 2007 – 10:00 a.m.

We have been advancing on this 'way of the messages' for a very long time. They emanate from a dimension beyond what is perceivable by the majority of human beings. Any story comes to an end, and so will ours; it is in the nature of things. You have fulfilled your mission, my daughter, beyond our hopes. Only through an exemplary tenacity could it be brought to completion.

"All seems to be said; it only remains to disseminate these writings within the Mission, and one day, they will spread beyond its framework. We will remain in contact and we will keep expressing ourselves to our very dear son through this channel. He is accustomed to this timeless speech that comforts him in his heavy task. Until the end of his Earthly lifetime we will be with him, before he rejoins the celestial fields where he will be able to fully assess the extent of his Mission on Earth. Having handed the torch over to his chosen successor, he will be entrusted with another mission, that of guiding him, of being by his side at every step and supporting him with his love to achieve what must be achieved, under our blessings."
