Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Friday, December 28, 2007 – 10:00 a.m.

Can one be weary of singing divine love? This is all your heart is craving: to immerse itself completely in Him, the eternal source of life. Your Master is filled by it; his soul exults in being thus nourished. Is it not its elixir, its strength here below? Why would he be weary of this speech? His entire spiritual being is craving for it; his soul becomes inflamed under the fiery glow of this love which can thus express itself in a different way.

"Where, better than in these messages, can the beauty of his soul unfold? Few of the Great Chosen Ones before him had this means of expression, dissociating the human person from the higher and spiritual reality of the divinised being. How can one better define him? These writings are revealing; his successor will find in them the best substance allowing him to see himself in his Master. This celestial manna is not given in vain; it will gain widespread acceptance and help many hearts to follow this way of love, which future humanity will call for. Thus is our celestial gift, with very special blessings."

Babuji