Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Wednesday, January 16, 2008 – 10:00 a.m.

Do not worry; there will be an 'after-messages' [period]. Your life can take on a very different meaning without being devoid of interest. There are many ways of serving us, and you know this. Aren't you our preferred messenger?

"Besides receiving the messages, there is the need to disseminate these writings that provide a special teaching benefiting our way. My daughter, you are a sage. Who, better than you, can promote their understanding and absorption by a heart ready to receive them? Yours has been feeding from the source for so many years; it has vibrated under the effects of our conjoined voices in many circumstances.

"Your asset is to some extent unique and our contacts are almost permanent, since you are used to our respective presences. What more can we tell you to reassure you? Your humility saves you from many evils, which some of our aspirants suffer from in a saddening way and that is especially detrimental to their evolution.

"Your way, my daughter, is all set; go on it with your heart suffused with the effects of grace. We have already said it, but it suits it so well."
