Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, March 22, 2008 – 10:00 a.m.

My son is right. There could be so many things to say, and yet we must limit ourselves to the level of human understanding in this evolutionary cycle. Minds are opening slowly, but irreversibly. These writings are important, to an extent which you cannot imagine today. In time they will play their true role in our way, which will evolve in the future towards manifested and victorious love."
