alm down, eliminate your stress, come and join us—otherwise we will not be able to communicate. We understand your disappointment about this new treatment. All is not lost; perhaps there will be another means to soothe you. The main thing lies elsewhere; you are not ignored by the greatest. We expect special work from you. You know certain aspects of it; you will be informed about the remainder when the time comes. You have been self-sacrificing; you should know that your wish is answered and you are being used for a long time. That's all that is important for you to know; that is the sense of true surrender. We appreciate that you are not curious. It is a quality that serves you well in your dealings with us. You don't ask any questions about the profound meaning of what is being done through you. It is very hard to endure, my child. You allay suspicion so much that your circle does not become aware of your difficulties and could believe that you are in good shape. Moaning and letting oneself go, would not change your state whatsoever. Keep smiling for us who are often close to you, and for those who surround you.

"Never doubt the hidden side of your work. Your role is not negligible; it is not necessary to rove the world to act and be fulfilled. Each one has one's own mission; this is a great lesson to be borne in mind. We understand your desire to live outside, but with time, you understand that the inner journey is a hundred times more enriching and useful for you. Be patient, my daughter, you give us satisfaction, be blessed."
