Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Friday, June 6, 2008 – 10:00 a.m.

My dear son, your visit with our chosen medium has filled us with joy; it had to be so. Her gifts are intact, though they are expressed in a limited way due to a state of great pain, in part due to a fall. Do not worry; the main things will be said at the appropriate time.

"We are happy to see how your courage is being displayed in the service of our Mission. It is growing and thriving according to our wishes, under your vigilance and relentless work. Courage is the prerogative of great beings, when they are dedicated to the Divine; you exemplify it perfectly, my son, blessed among all. We carry you to the zenith, and we love you so very much.

"We cannot go any further; we entrust our dear messenger to your care. May our love feed you at each second of your life dedicated to our divine heart."
