Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Sunday, July 13, 2008 – 10:00 a.m.

The so very blessed day of your birthday will come soon, and grace will be profusely showered on the entire Mission, through your divine heart. Need I say that, for all of us here, this day will be a moment of incomparable joy.

"May you benefit fully from these moments, being both detached and very much present, as is proper in such circumstances. Time is passing, inexorably. Your stay on Earth will leave a lasting imprint, which future centuries will remember. Thus is the destiny of our Mission. The new era must evolve, and regarding our Mission, it must remain true to its convictions, and be protected from any fanaticism and misconceptions.

"The Great Masters of the past were pure beings, with beautiful spiritual statures. History has distorted a certain number of fundamental principles on which the religions were initially based.

"Pure hearts are not mistaken; they are nourished by what is best, while putting things in perspective. May all be blessed and enlightened in their search.

"As for you, my beloved son, you have the privilege of our ceaseless blessings. May this birthday be one of fulfilment and of sharing in the love of all our faithful brothers and sisters."
