My son, this great enlightened Being, has found the words capable of striking people's mind with this text, intended for our abhyasis, in which he has summarized very well the spirit of the messages. Their thorough study will give rise to reflection. The exegesis of these texts will be made in the future; it will be long and full of discoveries, supported by a reality specific to future times. With his remarks, my son creates the desired impact on people's mind, by opening up to them constructive vistas on the subject. Happy are those who will follow him on the path of discovery of this teaching. My daughter, you have every reason to feel happy in reading the remarks of your Master; these writings are the work of your fervent heart, entirely devoted to our cause.

"Our Mission has yet to discover the manna of a teaching of this kind. It is not negligible, and your Master, in his great wisdom, has recognized the beauty of it and the higher inspiration he benefits from it. Each series has its own style; 'The Quintessence of the Spirit' will remain in its kind, an anthology celebrating divine love, in terms of how it can be deeply felt.

"My son has understood well what the whole of this work can bring to our way; he has managed to express it with soundness and to sensitize our brothers and sisters to its contents.

"The French edition in the source language is essential. It is rich and provides all the nuances of its [linguistic] characteristic. It will have to remain a reference; this is to be borne in mind.

"These books will have to be brought within everyone's reach, according to the economic status of the greatest number, in the form of suitable publications.

"The kick off for this new series is given by your Master, with all the style and the spirit which befit an event of this kind. The future will justify these remarks.

"May all be blessed beyond their hopes, grateful towards their Master for overcoming taboos and acting as the greatest must do to serve a right cause.

"We bless this very dear son, the One chosen by our hearts united together. May he still find, for a longer time, the strength to act with soundness and perceptiveness!"
