Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Wednesday, February 18, 2009 – 10:00 a.m.

As you have said, my daughter, the divine laws are written with the pencil of love. They cannot be decoded by all; even the great Beings do not really manage it. Everyone must make their way as best they can, with uprightness, mutual respect, and by using the language of the heart. The heart translates, in its own way, the aspirations of the soul, which constantly needs to manifest itself. One need only listen to one's heart, listen to the comments of one's Master and respect them, while trying to follow his recommendations. Many of our brothers fail to do it. They get lost in pointless assumptions, and they neglect the fundamental aspect of their inner selves. Only the noblest sense of surrender can calm an intrusive and negative mind.

May all be strengthened and enlightened on the way of life.
