Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Saturday, February 28, 2009 – 10:00 a.m.

Do not worry about this message[1]; you will forward it when necessary. Blunders will occur in our Mission. It is not spared human foolishness. Alas, that is the way it goes.

The time of wisdom in this world has not yet come; there is still a lot to do. Our Mission is not spared and will not be in the future. Utmost vigilance will have to be exercised, especially after the departure of my son, in order to protect a spiritual way which is self-sufficient. Some will be tempted to add elements meant to please childish people. May it please God they do not succeed in that.

Blessings to all, especially the wise ones for whom our way, as it is, is enough. They will have to be very keen to preserve it as it is.

Babuji
