Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Saturday, March 14, 2009 – 10:00 a.m.

My daughter, you may forward to him these short messages. Your Master needs our encouragement. He welcomes our constant support which is expressed in various manners, but these writings remain a tangible evidence of our presence by his side. His mission in this world is very heavy, with so many problems arising incessantly. His strength of character cannot always hold everything in check. This world is made like that; those who have the best intentions often make life more complicated for him. In spite of this, the best emerges from all these difficulties. Such is the life of our Mission under his higher authority, together with our love at the highest level.

We understand your great tiredness, but please listen to our Beloved and transmit the writings in question as soon as possible. Be blessed.
